ANNUAL REPORT | 2022-2023

In the time since the Dobbs decision eviscerated federal protections for abortion, we have seen the devastating impacts of state-level abortion bans. Millions of people face even more obstacles to getting abortion care, with the impact of bans falling hardest on those already facing unequal barriers to health care, especially young people, LGBTQ+ people, and Black and Brown people. Patients have experienced worse pregnancy complications and increased delays in care in states with abortion bans because they're forced to comply with medically unnecessary requirements. As a result of bans on abortion, people are struggling to get lifesaving medical care for miscarriages, ectopic pregnancies, and other pregnancy complications. Too often, they are denied the care they desperately need. Abortion bans have even caused some hospitals to shut down their maternity wards. We have had enough of the onslaught of attacks on abortion care by people who want to control our bodies and our lives.

But here's what we know: As supporters of abortion access, we are the majority. Although there are currently fourteen states with a total abortion ban and another 7 states with enforcing bans between 6 and 18 weeks, there have been some surprising and inspiring sites of resistance. In many so-called red states like Kentucky, Kansas, and Montana, ballot-initiatives proposing to restrict abortion access failed outright. In Michigan, more of a purple state, so-to-speak, voters overturned the state's ban. In Ohio, voters rejected a Republican attempt to impose restrictions on amendments to the state constitution, a measure that was an effort to prevent Ohioans from voting to amend the state constitution to protect the right to abortion.

Here at NOISE FOR NOW, we know that artists and musicians are culture-makers. We know that when the artists and performers we love speak openly and unapologetically about abortion, abortion is stripped of its stigma. We are bringing conversations around abortion quite literally into the spotlight. As this report will show, last year we collaborated with musicians, artists, and entertainers to raise over $480,000 that went directly to abortion funds and clinics across the United States. But our work also called thousands of people into the movement for Reproductive Justice and invited them to become part of the culture change we need to defend and protect our bodily autonomy. We know that we can shape our future with art, community, and collective action.

We hope you will be inspired by the overwhelming success of our last year and the exciting projects we have coming up. We couldn't do any of it without you. It will take all of us to secure our freedom to control our own bodies and safely care for ourselves, our families, and our communities. We're so grateful to have your support in this work.

In Solidarity,

Amelia Bauer, Executive Director

MISSION

NOISE FOR NOW is a national initiative that enables artists and entertainers to connect with and financially support grassroots organizations that work in the field of Reproductive Justice, including abortion access. NOISE FOR NOW is the link between touring musicians, progressive promoters, athletes, artists and local reproductive rights organizations in cities across the country.

Reproductive health care services, including access to legal abortion, are under attack. By organizing benefit events and campaigns, NOISE FOR NOW provides opportunities for artists and entertainers to use their talents to raise money and send a clear message that Reproductive Rights are human rights.

HIGHLIGHTED EVENTS CAMPAIGNS

NOISE FOR NOW has worked with over 450 artists and entertainers to raise over $1.25 for 48 organizations. In the last year we raised nearly half a million dollars!

We've organized over 6 years of events and campaigns. Here are a few highlights from the last year:

“NOISE FOR NOW has a beautiful way to get critical information to musicians, like me, so that we can share it with our fan base. It’s so smart and so easy. They have set everything up in an organized and digestible way so that we can collectively support grassroot organizations and remind everyone that abortion is healthcare. I love working with NOISE FOR NOW because I believe in absolutely everything they stand for- Also I love badass humans who want to make a difference in this backwards ASS world.”
